Invitation for the 6th Asian Shipbuilding Experts' Forum

September 19, 2012

Dear all,

In the year of 2007, the 1st Asian Shipbuilding Experts' Forum (ASEF) was led by the Japan Ship Technology Research Association (JSTRA) jointly with CANSI and KOSHIPA, with the aim of enhancing the voice of Asian shipbuilding industry in the development of maritime rules and regulations. From then on ASEF is held annually by Japan, Korea and China in turn, acting as a platform of communication and opinion exchange within Asian shipbuilding industry.

The 6th ASEF will be held by CANSI in Guangzhou City, Guangdong Province during 22 to 23 November 2012. The theme remains as "Ship Safety and Environment Protection", which covers the topic of current development of global shipbuilding technology, onboard noise control, goal-based standard, harmonized common structural rules (HCSR), tank testing guideline, quality system issues relating to shipyards, polar code, greenhouse gas emission reduction (GHG), implementation of ballast water management convention (BWM) and prevention of air pollution etc.

We sincerely look forward to your participation.
